

Aging In Place Seminar

Focusing on Universal Design principles and supportive services to encourage planning that will allow our older and disabled populations the ability to live in their home and community safely, independently and comfortably.

Presented by the Universal Design Coalition (easyuniversaldesign.com)
Tuesday, January 22, 2019 • 11:30 AM to 1:00 PM
Lunch Included • $25 Registration Fee
1900 Brother Geenen Way • Dwyer Room • Downtown Sarasota

Universal Design (UD) is the umbrella under which certain design and building principles are implemented allowing residential living environments to be accessible, adaptable, and visitable.

Utilizing these planning concepts accommodates a multitude of needs pertaining to our older population as well as those with special needs, regardless of age.

This Aging In Place Seminar will address how to formulate a plan that will help shape an optimum living environment along with Supportive Services that allows residents and families to remain in their homes safely as well as provide the ability to accommodate visits from friends and family.

The program will be of value to anyone who wishes to plan for potential future needs, those that are currently dealing with special needs, and professional groups that serve the older and disabled populations such as Realtors, Remodelers, Builders, Occupational and Physical Therapists, Case Managers, and other Business and Service Organizations.

Live.
Longer.
BETTER.

Call 941.556.3263 to register.
For more information visit
centerforagingstudies.org